Syntax to the stand as Job's witness

My current paper introduces the concept of „focus structures" as identified by Adina Moshavi and how I've adjusted her theory to analyze focus structures in biblical hebrew poetry, specifically in the book of Job. I've also given a brief overview of the prelimilary results of comparing occurences of focus structures in the different redaction layers of the book of Job.